POLECON 160 001 (15082) - FASCISM, POPULISM and the ELITES in the 20th and 21st CENTURY (4 units)

Are liberal democracies faced with a fascist threat today? The question of how to understand the new political insurgencies which have upended traditional political party alignments has brought the terms "populism" and "fascism to the forefront of public debate and made rigorous definition an urgent task. While some right-wing populism to be little more than a convenient euphemism for the new fascist sensibility, rhetoric and policy, some emphasize the distinct and irretrievable otherness of the interwar moment in the 20th century Europe that produced the "classic" fascist movements in Italy, Spain, and National Socialism in Germany. Our task is to focus attention on the alarming continuities with the past and to attempt to from the past history without being blinded by our own analogies to what is new in the contemporary moment. The course is thus framed around the continuities and discontinuities between "classic" fascism of the interwar period, its ideological variations and contexts, and the "neo-fascisms," and radical right movements in Western Europe between 1945 and 1989. We then use these contexts to analyze the dramatic growth in right-wing populism in Western and Eastern Europe since 2008.
